LOGLINE

In a future devastated by a virus that erases human memory, a cybernetic mercenary discovers that the daughter he has been fighting for never existed. Manipulated into becoming the perfect weapon, he must choose between taking revenge on his creators or stopping a global system that uses the "cure" as a tool for mass mind control.

BRIEF SYNOPSIS

After a neurological pandemic that wiped out half of humanity, the elites survive thanks to the Mnemonix, humans enhanced with cybernetic implants.

Adam Sinner, a former police officer turned elite mercenary, steals a formula that could be the ultimate cure... or the most powerful control weapon ever created.

When he discovers that the sick daughter he has been fighting for is only an induced illusion, Adam breaks every tie and becomes Black Hornet, the only one

LONG SYNOPSIS

In 2023, the Tsunami virus devastates the planet: it attacks the central nervous system, erases memories, and leads to death or a vegetative state. Humanity survives only thanks to a new class of individuals: the Mnemonix, humans enhanced with neural implants that make them immune to the virus.

The cure is expensive, exclusive, and controlled by a handful of megacorporations.

To prevent a global war, the Tacit Agreement is signed, a pact that limits the military use of Mnemonix and regulates their enhancement levels.

In Rome, a data transfer mission turns into a massacre: Adam Sinner, also known as Black Hornet, a forbidden-level Mnemonix mercenary, steals a secret formula and betrays his own allies. Adam works for Derek Cosgrove, a powerful businessman and leader of a mysterious organization, who keeps him under control by promising to save his gravely ill daughter, Melissa.

But something is wrong.

As the world reacts to the theft and the Global Defense Network begins its investigation, Adam is hunted by Red Skorpion, an experimental Mnemonix so advanced that he has lost all human emotion. Red Skorpion is the ultimate weapon of Professor Watanabe, the scientist who created the formula and now wants it back.

Meanwhile, Adam discovers the truth: Melissa died years ago. Or perhaps she never existed at all.

The child was a mental construct, an induced simulation designed to keep him obedient, to turn him into a perfect machine. Adam's pain becomes rage. His mission changes.

The stolen formula is not a cure for humanity: it works only on enhanced individuals and allows whoever controls it to command the minds of the Mnemonix. It will not save the world, it will enslave it.

While corporations and governments fight behind the scenes, Adam accepts a final, irreversible upgrade, becoming a Level 9: more powerful, unstable, and destined to die.

He confronts Red Skorpion in a devastating clash that destroys what remains of his humanity... and that of his enemy.

In the end, Adam survives, but the real enemy has not been defeated.

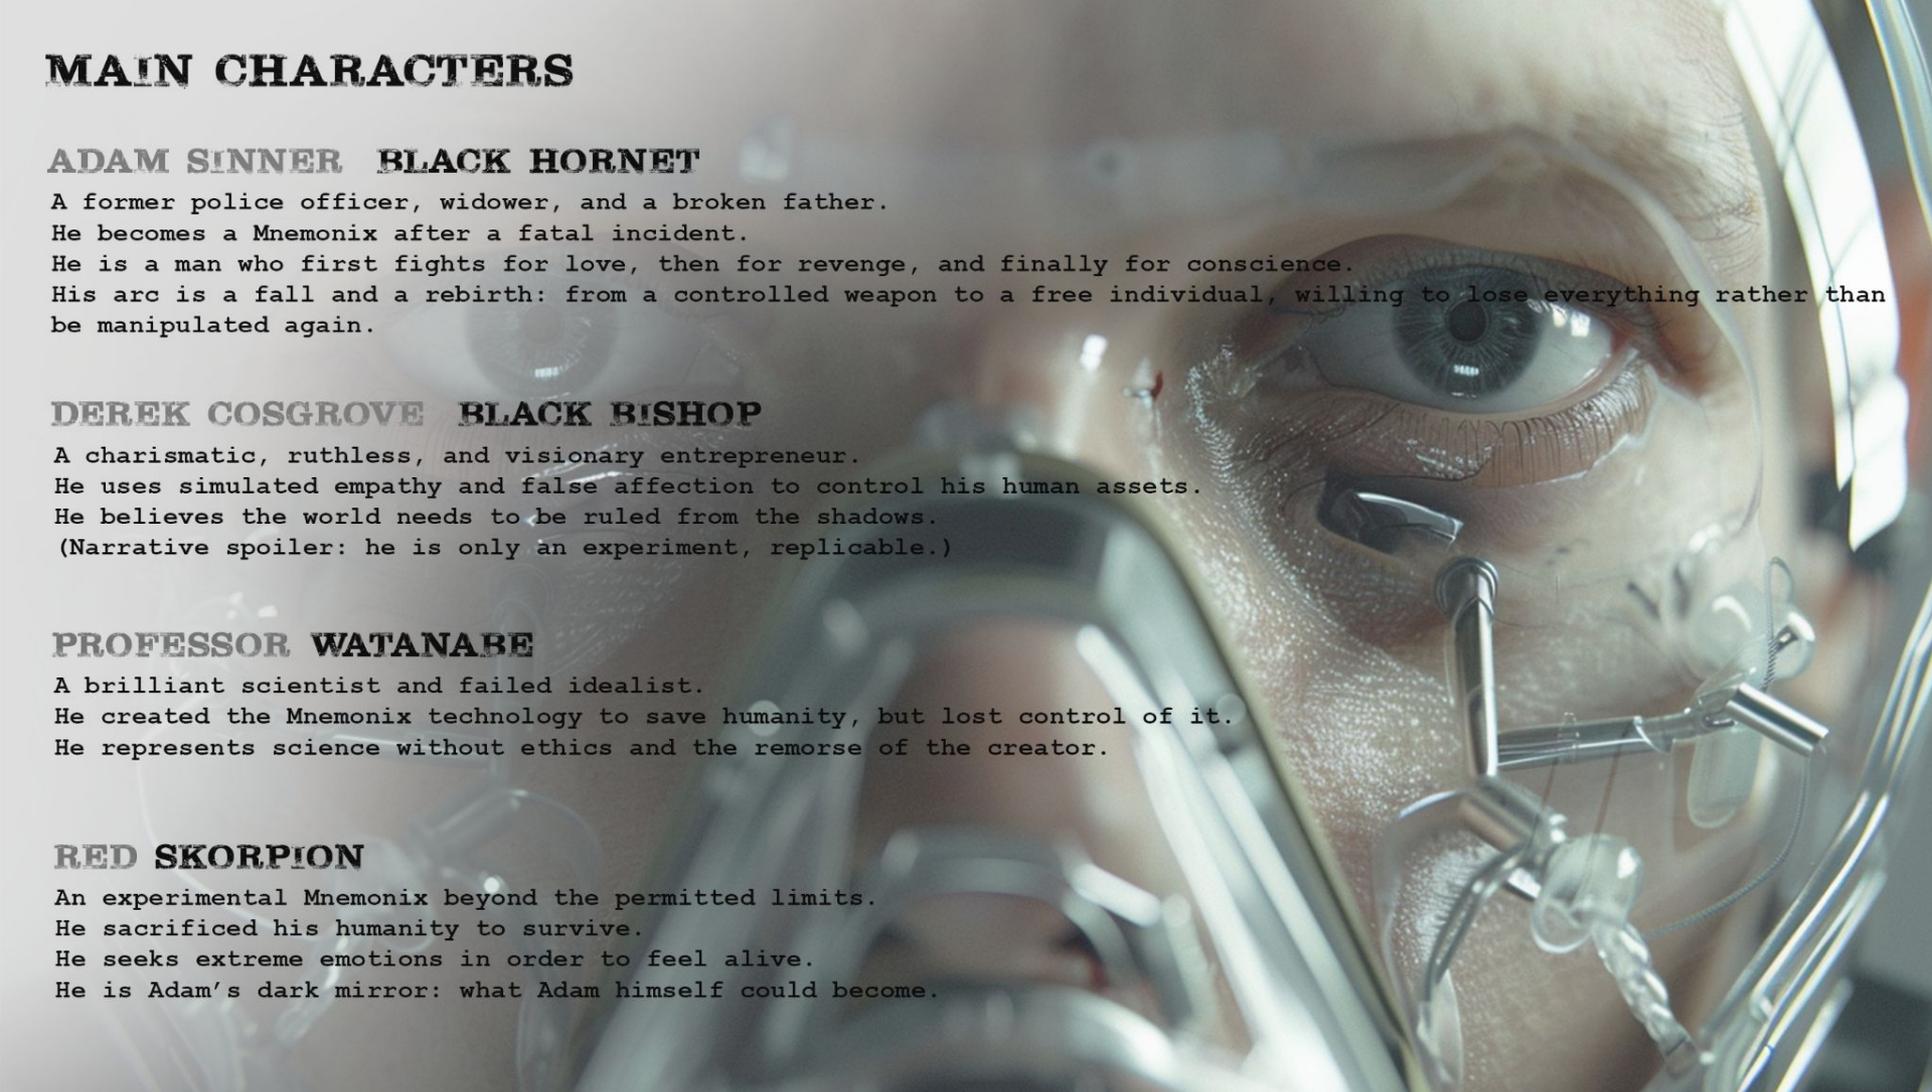

Cosgrove was only a pawn.

Behind him stands Gideon Mantell, the invisible mind of a secret society that uses clones, humans, and data as simple variables.

Adam, now carrying the memory and experience of his enemy, chooses not to stop.

The war is not over. It has only just begun.

MAIN CHARACTERS

ADAM SINNER BLACK HORNET

A former police officer, widower, and a broken father.

He becomes a Mnemonix after a fatal incident.

He is a man who first fights for love, then for revenge, and finally for conscience.

His arc is a fall and a rebirth: from a controlled weapon to a free individual, willing to lose everything rather than be manipulated again.

DEREK COSGROVE BLACK BISHOP

A charismatic, ruthless, and visionary entrepreneur.

He uses simulated empathy and false affection to control his human assets.

He believes the world needs to be ruled from the shadows.

(Narrative spoiler: he is only an experiment, replicable.)

PROFESSOR WATANABE

A brilliant scientist and failed idealist.

He created the Mnemonix technology to save humanity, but lost control of it.

He represents science without ethics and the remorse of the creator.

RED SKORPION

An experimental Mnemonix beyond the permitted limits.

He sacrificed his humanity to survive.

He seeks extreme emotions in order to feel alive.

He is Adam's dark mirror: what Adam himself could become.

EVA

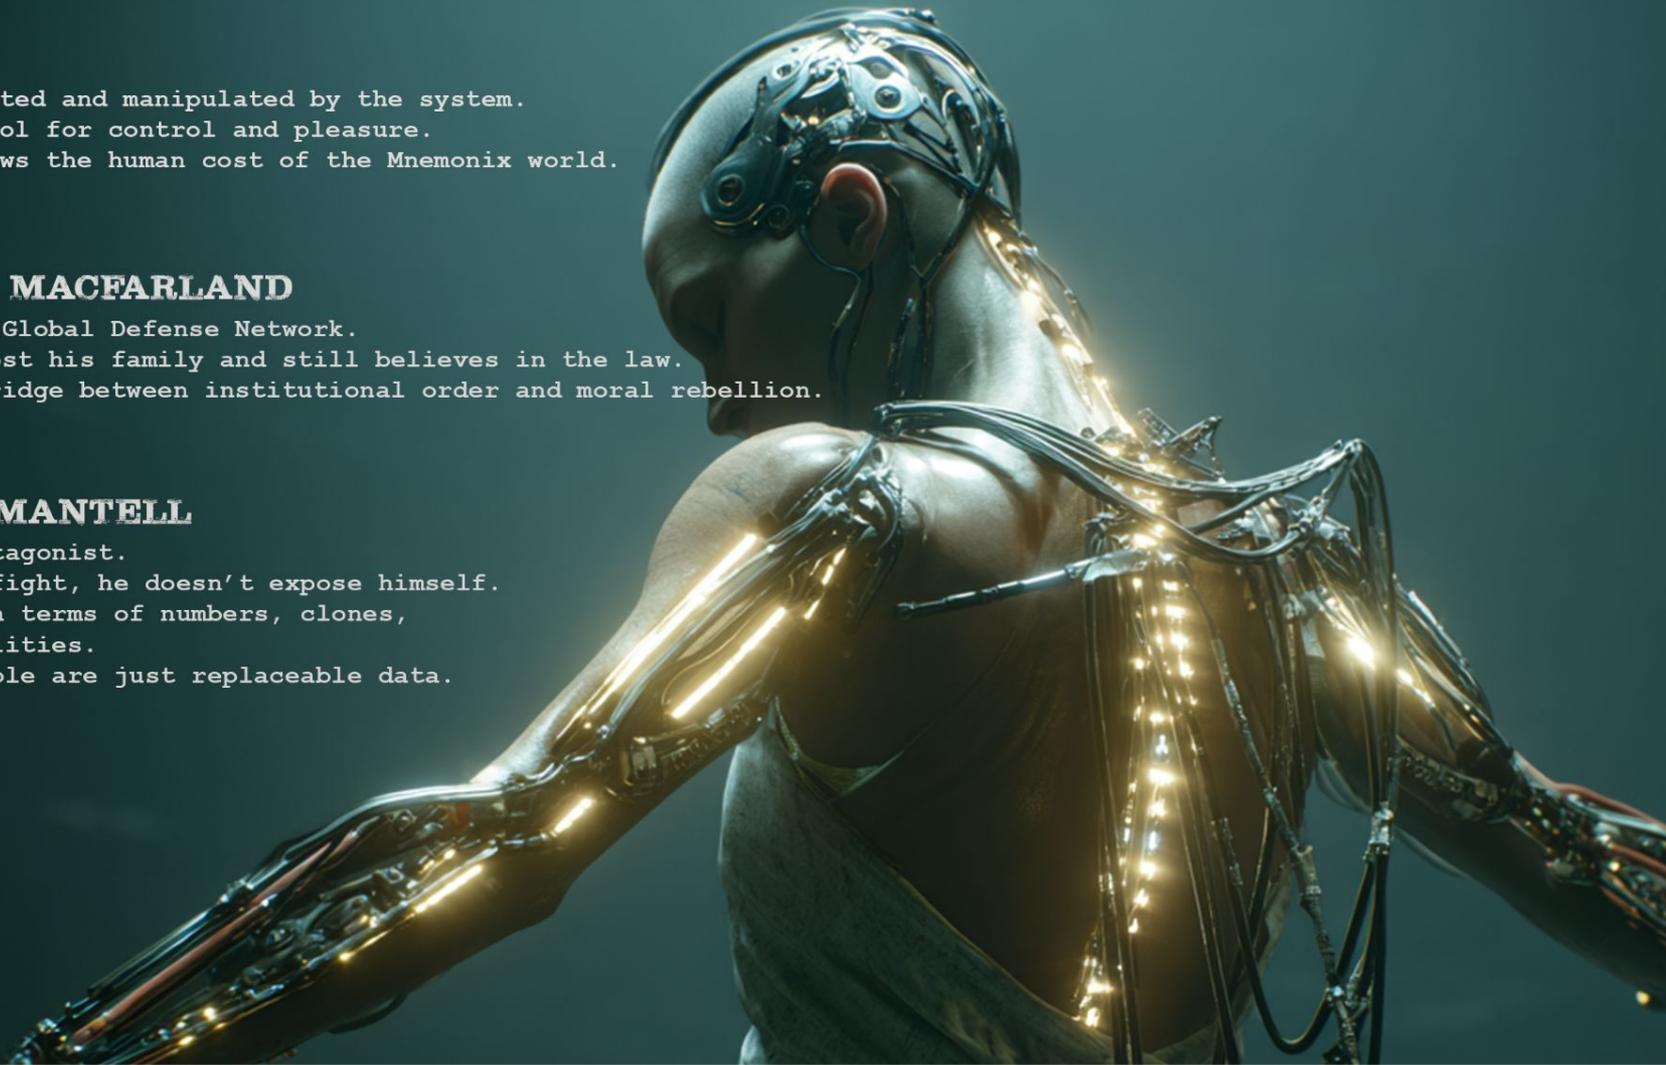

Woman exploited and manipulated by the system.
Used as a tool for control and pleasure.
Her fate shows the human cost of the Mnemonix world.

ANDREW MACFARLAND

Head of the Global Defense Network.
A man who lost his family and still believes in the law.
He is the bridge between institutional order and moral rebellion.

GIDEON MANTELL

The true antagonist.
He doesn't fight, he doesn't expose himself.
He thinks in terms of numbers, clones,
and probabilities.
To him, people are just replaceable data.

THEMES

Memory and Identity: Are we defined by what we remember, or by what we are made to believe?
Control vs Freedom: The cure as a new form of slavery.
Fatherhood and Loss: Love as a tool of manipulation.
Ethics of Technology: When salvation becomes domination.
Dehumanization: What remains of humanity when the body is replaceable.

STONE AND STYLE

Brutal action, but meaningful, never gratuitous.
Neo-noir atmospheres, cold and decaying European cities.
Technology that is visible, heavy, and raw, never "clean."
Contained emotion, with pain erupting only in key moments.

COMPARABLES

Blade Runner 2049 (identity and memory themes)
Ghost in the Shell (cyber-identity and control)
Children of Men (humanity on the brink of collapse)
Upgrade (intimate technological violence)
Elysium (elite vs the rest of the world)
